The contract is virtually the same as the one the union membership accepted, but the company's executive committee rejected a week ago. It calls for a 20-cent hourly wage increase divided between the two years and 12 cents in fringe benefits. It

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 What the American public will get this year is "mix." The term is being used with great frequency to describe congressional action on President Kennedy's budget and his proposed tax cuts.

In the corridors of the Capitol some congressmen refer to it as the "taxpayer's martini," while others see it as a "shot" of so much gin of the "cuds and much vermouth" of budget trim.

This congressional whinny underscores the general feeling here that JFK will not get exactly what he asks for in either his budget or taxes.

Ray Tucker

COMPROMISE — Comprises — and deals — with —
be the lampposts on the road to final action

Many Democratic leaders have declared that taxes and budget should be handled separately, holding that one may bog down the other. This idea will get nowhere. By their very nature, budget and taxes are interlocked.

The leadership-in-congress, both-Republican and Democratic, in both the senate and the house will have difficulty in passing numbers in 1961. There is scanty interest in one or the other-but-fiscal projects. And surely there is not a single congressman under pressure from the voters whose corporations back home who know exactly where taxes should be sliced and exactly who should be plucked from the budget.

And despite all the talk about the necessity of boiling the fat out of the President's budget, the measure will be for adding items special local benefit. "But the budget but something for a million-dollar U. S. office building here," will be the theme of many telegrams from hometowns.

TAX VS. TAX—not all the compromising between the tax and budget measures will be just as many between the tax- and tax-reform proposals.

There is a growing recognition that the reform proposals are of equal, if not greater, importance than the cuts. As these reform measures are studied, opposition by businessmen is rising. They are protesting that the reforms are difficult to understand and that when they are understood, they negate the tax savings. The costs of complying with the law will eat up many of the savings they contend.

Here again, the question of whether there should be two bills or one occurs. Rep. William Mills, D., Ark., chairman of the house ways and means committee, wants a single tax cut and reform bill. Rep. Hale Boggs, D., La., the pa-

TREASURY'S NITTE—However, other leaders fear that if cuts and reforms are written in two bills, the reform measures may shrink if they disappear altogether. In that circumstance, the tax cut might sweep through both houses, while the reform bill would be delayed and nibbled away.

The treasury will be closely questioned about its request. Since automation is a big item, the treasury will be asked to explain why automation does not tend to save jobs and money, instead costing more.

The cross-examination will be especially tough on the treasury since it must defend all other budget increases on behalf of the White House.

VIEWS OF OTHERS.

WILDERNESS ROADBLOCK

In the last session of congress the senate passed 78 to 8 the bill to establish a national wilderness preservation system. The bill was then tied up in the house interior and insular affairs committee for more than a year. When measure finally came to the floor it was so well managed—chiefly through the efforts of the committee chairman, Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D., Colorado, to reduce much of the effectiveness. And even though the bill was amended to a version never came to a vote in the closing rush.

Now the senate committee on interior and solar affairs is preparing to consider a proposal similar to that the senate approved in 1961. Aspinall started his opposition before congress convened. Some weeks ago his wrote congressmen that the bill had to be changed to gain understanding between congress and the executive branch as to which should designate land under a wilderness system.

Clearly congress should determine policies. That is the purpose of the bill. The senate version would then leave up to the administration.

His own delaying tactics have shown how ill the congress would be to make any additions to the system. And, it seems to us, his tactics also have shown up again a weakness of the seniority system under which committee chairmen are designated.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The December call to session will only give legislators a little organizing time, the overture before the symphony. What is badly needed is a continuity of study that only an interim council can provide.

Even the proposal for an for an annual legislative session does not remove the necessity of the constant research machinery of a legislative council.

Besides informing the legislature, the legislative council can perform an equally important service—informing the people as well. Wyoming residents were fully prepared for the current session by reason of advance reports on its assigned responsibilities. The legislators, as a result, can better appraise their needs. And the people can better appraise the legislative performance. —John Ho Falls Post-Register.

Clausen was the Republican nominee last October in the Democratic Incumbent-Rep.-C. Miller, died in a plane crash. It was too late to remove Rep. Miller's name from the November ballot. Democratic party officials undertook to launch a cynical campaign to elect a dead man to Congress. It would be necessary to hold a special election later. The campaign was successful. But Clausen has defeated the Democratic nominee and a Democratic self-starter in the special.

GOLD DOLLAR

By its own arithmetic, the Kennedy administration will in its first full three years in office have handed the country a whopping $7.7 billion dollar shortage in its fiscal accounts.

This, I suggest, is deficit-financing with a vengeance. But it doesn't tell the whole story, as such as the $7.7 billion figure for Barry Goldwater's "total deficit" for 1960-1961 and 1962-1963 years, is only optimistic one.

In fiscal 1963, the President presented what he called a "balanced budget." He estimated that there would actually be a surplus of 500 million dollars in the six when it ended. But his recent budget message to Congress for fiscal 1964 shows that the estimated deficit for 1963 will run $3 billion.

In other words, in winding up with a deficit of $3 billion where he had predicted a surplus of half a billion, the President made a slight error of the more than a billion dollars.

As things being the case, the American people can be nothing but highly suspicious and highly worried over the President's figures for fiscal 1964. In those figures, the administration confesses a deficit of 1.2 billion dollars for the year. For the sake of argument, let's assume that the President's figures are not too far off this year as they were last. In such a case, we would have a deficit of 1.2 billion dollars for more than 20 billion dollars for just one year.

The fact that the President believes that the President will be as wrong this year as he was last, but there is little doubt that the minds of fiscal experts both in and out of government that the economic picture will be some degree of Congress adopts his tax program. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, for example, has already predicted that the President's deficit for fiscal 1964 will be more like 14 billion when the final accounting

The belief that the 1964 deficit figure for the 1964 deficit will be low stems from the fact President Kennedy estimated some 100 million for the year at the time he presented his budget for fiscal 1963. And these estimates are low for tax reductions of between $2 and $3 billion.

Now, how is this trick so performed? How is it possible to estimate around $100 million for a given year and then estimate a tax that was taken in only a few months of the year? It's perfectly simple. Just a piece of paper and a pencil.

What do you do—and that is the question—when the President says that the business picture is good for the 1964 fiscal year? The good news is that the President probably ran a national product of 100 billion dollars, and consequently tax revenues will be greatly increased. Then you just take a piece of paper and figure out that the horizon is a bright one. The tax receipts will run more than a billion better than they did last year.

The trouble is that the whole thing is a guess and a guess on the part of the President and his advisers—all of whom have proved in the past they were right in business figures of the country with far rozier than the conditions warrant. In fact, the President predicted for 1963 revenues from just this kind of optimistic figuring, coupled with a Federal Government spending program—Private economic activity—edgerable congressmen can argue until they're blue in the face that the economic picture is good under conditions present in the country—good—product of the country is better than the President envisioned by the President. And they can make the most of it.

The fact that the President for fiscal 1963, estimated the GNP at a figure 16 billion higher than the mark is.

But none of them can say the President from arriving at the figure. The President can happen—and incorporating to estimate into the national budget. The President will tell the Congress of the United States that the President's administration back on the spending program 1963 billion offered for fiscal 1963.

Cattle Field Day Planned For Tuesday

The Twin Falls annual beef cattle field day will be held Tuesday, reports Donald Youns, county agent.

The first stop scheduled for the day will be at 10 a.m. at the McDonald brothers feedlot, one mile east of town, to observe the Tippecanoe corner feed system on the McDonald farm. The rest of the program will begin at 11 a.m. at the McDonald restaurant.

A luncheon sponsored by local beef producers will be held at noon Tuesday, Youns said. Anyone interested in the beef industry may attend.

Morris Hensstrom, University of Idaho extension livestock specialist, will speak on the beef dual grading system and how it is being accepted. The 1963 feed feed program will be discussed by Gene Lowe, manager of the University of Idaho extension service.

Otto Peterson, independent meat company, and Dr. Wayne M. Smith, University of Idaho extension economist, will discuss trends in the cattle feeding industry. Ralph J. Allen, Idaho state veterinarian, will discuss the cattle feeding industry.

Tuesday afternoon, speakers will be on a panel discussion on the cattle disease problem.

Hearing Set Friday About Bus Service

APRIL 25, 1963—The Idaho public utilities commission will hold a hearing at 8:30 a.m. Friday at the commission's office in Boise to hear testimony on the proposed new bus service between Boise and Twin Falls via the highway.

The Greyhound company has been operating trial schedules between Boise and Twin Falls via the highway since April 25, 1962. The trial runs were established in response to a public hearing in Boise and a request for testimony from residents of the area.

In November the company applied to the commission for a certificate of public convenience to operate through Boise because the trial runs did not justify the cost of continued bus service.

Residents who wish to present testimony on the proposed bus service should contact the office of John P. Hamilton, secretary of the commission, at 300 N. Capitol Blvd., Boise, or Dr. T. J. Ryan, president of the bus lines, at 300 N. Capitol Blvd., Boise.

Cooperation Stressed at Rupert Meet

APRIL 25, 1963—The need for cooperation, cooperative action as the part of a community to bring about change, was stressed by Dr. W. L. Ryan, president of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

In a speech to what he called "the community," Dr. Ryan said that each person was born with a "gift," it merely brings emphasis to the person's ability to do so. It brings a challenge to get them on to a successful life.

Some persons require a shock to get them to make their life better, but if the stimulus is not enough, then something will be done.

Dr. Ryan's influence action, he said, is to prevent a loss of time to make a profit, but would also apply to the financial and in the national field.

A feeling of personal love for others and a desire to serve him self to achieve his own success in almost any venture, in supplying goods or services or just on a purely personal basis.

The successful man, in any area of endeavor, is the one who is able to help others to succeed in their own efforts rather than to himself, Dr. Ryan said.

He said that the person who is able to help others to succeed is the one who is able to treat his own success as a means to help others to succeed.

Dr. Ryan, president, welcomed the new members and reported on the recent membership drive. He announced that the future of the chamber will be devoted to helping the community in one of more committees to assist the general membership with the activities of the various groups.

A directors meeting was announced for 10 a.m. Thursday at the chamber office, and a social meeting for all persons involved in the improvement of the highway from Richfield to Idaho Falls to the office will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Representatives from the highway district serving the area, as well as the highway and the highway will attend. Another group will attend members to attend.

The chamber's chamber of commerce is in charge of arrangements for the chamber's chamber of commerce.

Students Delayed When Car Skids

RUPERT, Feb. 2—Noel Craven, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Craven, Rupert, 150 student, was delayed in his return to school after a car accident at 8:30 a.m. Thursday when his 1954 Ford sedan skidded out of control and struck a guard rail on Interstate highway 15 about 20 miles east of Rupert.

The car skidded broadside into the guard rail which was ripped loose, and a section driven completely through the body of the car between the front and rear seats.

State Patrolman Charles Pugh reported the highway was covered with plane ice at the time of the mishap. The car was demolished.

Young Craven caught a ride back to Rupert and his mother took him to Pocatello.

Drawing Set

BURLEY, Feb. 2—The blood-money will be at the Elks hall from 2 to 6 p.m. Monday.

A quota of 150 points has been set, according to Mrs. Robert M. Mabe, chairman.

One hundred nine points of blood have been used in the county since the last drawing, and 15 points have been used by county residents in hospitals during the county. Mrs. Mabe said.

Mrs. North Joins Faculty of Alaska Methodist University

Mrs. Rose M. North, who retired last spring as dean of girls at Twin Falls high school after serving more than 35 years with the local school district, has gone to Alaska.

It was announced Saturday she has joined the faculty of Alaska Methodist University as assistant professor of English. Her son, Murray North, is associate professor of music at the same school. She will teach courses in freshman English, English literature and literature of the Victorian period.

In 1918, after graduating from Colorado State college, she became principal at Bickel school, where she remained for five years before being named principal of the new junior high school. The new school was the first such institution in Idaho and one of the first junior high schools in the West.

For many years the new junior high school, which Mrs. North organized, was a pattern for later junior high schools in the state. She resigned as principal of the school in 1955 to raise her two children and returned in 1958 as dean of girls at the local high school.

Besides organizing the Girls' Leadership program, her school activity, she was head of the Twin Falls high school English department. She also has served as professor of English at Idaho State college, Pocatello. Mrs. North has been active in the American Association of University Women, National Association of Deans of Women, and the Idaho Education association, of which she is a past president.

Her bachelor of arts degree in English was earned at Colorado State college and she has a master's degree in English from the University of California, Berkeley. She also has a master's degree in guidance and personnel administration from Columbia university, New York City.

She has taken specialized postgraduate work at the National University of Mexico, Mexico City, and at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles. Extensive European travel to places of literary importance has given Mrs. North more familiarity with her field of literature.

Both of her children live in Anchorage. Her daughter, Mrs. Robert Wilkins, is a member of the Anchorage school board.

Plans Listed for Electrical Meet

RUPERT, Feb. 3.—Robert R. Gros, San Francisco, utility executive and world-traveler who twice has interviewed Russian leaders inside the Kremlin, will be a featured speaker at the eighth annual conference of Snake River Valley Electrical association, Feb. 18 in Boise.

William Lott, Rupert, president of the association's Mayfield chapter says electrical industry leaders from throughout southern Idaho and eastern Oregon will attend the one-day conference. It will discuss the simultaneous observance of Idaho and National electrical week, Feb. 18-19.

Gros, vice president of Pacific Gas and Electric company, is a dedicated fighter against communism and will speak during the luncheon meeting.

Last Honor Paid To Mrs. Frazier

BURLEY, Feb. 3.—Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Lucile Frazier were held Thursday at the Rupert Baptist church with the Rev. F. C. Zinn officiating.

Alfred Thaxton sang and a men's trio composed of Jake Wall, Clifford Nutting and Richard Parmeter was accompanied by Ethel Nutting.

pallbearers were Clifton May, Ed Hammond, Marion Menner, Ford Brady, Nolan Humphrey and Marion Bunn. Floral arrangements were under direction of Rula Brady, Allen Hammond, Betty Menner, Hazel May and Ed Bunn.

Concluding rites were held in the Riverside cemetery, Heyburn.

Hansen Program Given by Pupils

HANSEN, Feb. 2.—A physical education program was held Thursday evening at the schoolhouse with the junior high school boys and high school girls and boys demonstrating different types of physical activities.

Mrs. Rose North, high school boys' director, explained the exercises, and displayed uniforms.

Mrs. Barbara LaFrenesse, high school girls' director, also explained what the various exercises did for the muscles of the body in the school program. Girls demonstrated exercises, tumbling, a folk dance and archery.

Ted Crockett, high school boys' director, explained why the exercises were done in such ways as to not overstretch ligaments, and to do the most for boys in their various activities.

Proposed Cut For Schools Is Criticized

RUPERT, Feb. 2 — Concern over the proposed cut in school financing was expressed here today by Camille Meyer, Minidoka county superintendent of schools.

If the proposed budget for public schools is accepted, Meyer pointed out the Minidoka school district will lose some $18,000, or about $12 per student less than is being spent now. This would mean a substantial cut back in the amount that cannot afford such a cut, he said.

At present Idaho is spending $110 per student per year compared to a national level of $416 per student per year, Meyer said. The state average per student per year in the county is $286.

This compares to about $100 in the states surrounding Idaho, Meyer pointed out, and added that in Utah, the governor has asked for a substantial increase in funds allocated for public education in the state to meet the rising costs of education.

Meyer says Idaho now has in excess of 175,000 students attending public schools with a steady increase of about 5,000 each year. The proposed cut in funds comes at a time when an increase is needed, he said, if present and future needs of the schools are to be met.

An increase of one-million dollars appears to the legislature as a tremendous achievement, Meyer said, when in reality, since the appropriation is on a bi-annual basis, it would amount to an increase of just a few student-pyram.

In order to raise the annual state expenditure for public schools up to the national level, an appropriation of $100 million is needed, he claims. This still will not approach the level of the "average" state of Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming and Utah, he said.

The average teacher salary in the county is $4,500, with new teachers with a degree starting at $4,000. He explained it is virtually impossible to get a college graduate to come into the district when they could get $5,000 in other areas.

One example cited by Meyer was of a graduate last spring from the University of Idaho who really wanted to live in Idaho, but couldn't get teaching for $4,000 with a ceiling of $4,500 after a 16-year period as compared to a starting salary of going to $7,000 in 12 years.

Idaho school administrators are up against, Meyer said, in trying to staff their schools.

He encouraged all persons to acquaint themselves with the situation and contact their congressmen with their wishes.

Meyer said he felt the public should be willing to pay for the type of services wanted, and if the people weren't willing to provide proper schools the coming generation would have to pay the price of an inferior education.

Meyer said perhaps a sales-tax earmarked for education might be the answer, pointing out that it would reach persons not touched by property taxes.

He also pointed out that, according to a report by the State Chamber of Commerce, thousands of Idaho last year amounted to some 150 million dollars would have brought in a good sum in tax money.

Ice Blamed for Bliss Accidents

BLISS, Feb. 2 — Black ice caused two one-vehicle accidents near Bliss Thursday morning.

The first occurred at 10:10 a.m. about three miles west of Bliss on highway 30, when the 1956 Ford driven by Sandra R. Williams, Wendell, skidded and rolled over a six-foot embankment, landing on the right side.

The driver was not injured.

State Patrolman Walter J. J. Kirtley, Bliss, estimated damage to the car at $350.

The second accident occurred at 8:50 a.m. one mile south of Bliss on highway 30 when a 1963 Ford truck, belonging to Independent Meat company, Twin Falls, and driven by Bill J. Lewis overturned and came to rest on top of the van.

Patrolman Kirtley estimated damage to the van at $500. Lewis was uninjured.

Improvement For Mortuary Is Reported

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Berg, owners of Twin Falls mortuary, have added two new complete ambulances and a new family limousine for better service.

Berg said he and Mrs. Berg became complete owners of the mortuary last August. He began operating the mortuary one and one-half years ago when Stanley Phillips retired. Berg was co-owner until last August. The mortuary has been in the same location for the past 32 years.

Berg added there has been some interior changes of the mortuary and plans are being made for exterior changes.

Berg was graduated from Lourdes, Wash., high school and Washington State college. He also was graduated from the College of Mortuary Science in Los Angeles. He is a veteran of World War II, serving with the Air Corps. He has thirty years of experience in the field of mortuary science and holds embalmers' and funeral directors' licenses in California, Washington and Idaho.

Berg is a member of the Elks Lodge, Lions club, Exchange club and Horace W. Tyler lodge No. 200, A.F. and A.M. Mrs. Berg has taken an active part in the business since August as women attendant.

Soil School Set Tuesday

BURLEY, Feb. 3.—A soil school for farmers of the area will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Burley Elks hall, according to Glenn Boddy, county agent.

Dr. Roger Harder, associate agronomist from the soil department of the University of Idaho, will discuss physical characteristics of the soil and its relation to management during the Tuesday morning session.

"The chemical properties of the soil and their relation to management" will be discussed by Charles Painter, Boise, soil extension specialist of the University of Idaho.

Tuesday afternoon, a film will be shown on "Making the most of a miracle" and Painter will conduct a discussion on plant nutrition. Soil organic matter will be discussed by Harder.

Virgil Cross, Casia county potato specialist, will explain physical requirements of the soil on Wednesday morning meeting. Boddy will discuss nutrients needed in the area.

Other subjects to be discussed

berg, H. B. Walkup and Gary Majors, all Twin Falls, and Capt. C. G. Berggren, Idaho Falls. Seated are Lieut. Col. Herbert Richards and Maj. Wendell Coe, both Boise. All are chaplains. (Times-News photo)

Concert Planned Feb. 12 by Twin Falls Civic Symphony

The Twin Falls Civic Symphony will include "Dance des Bouffons" from the opera "Boris Godunov" by M. Rimsky-Korsakov, arranged by Adolph Schmidt; Paganini's "Capriccio" by R. Vaughan Williams, adapted from the opera "Rit-John-in-Love," edited by W. Gilia Whitaker; Prelude to "Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg" by Wagner; "Boleros Musicales" — suite of five movements from Rossini arranged by Benjamin Britten; "Night Song" by Morton Gould; "Cliff Cray Overture" by George Gershwin, arranged by Robert McBride.

Tickets are now on sale at White's Music Center, Claude Brown, Music and Furniture, Warner Music company, at the Music Box in the Lyndwood Shopping center. They will be available at the door the night of the concert.

Guest artist for the evening will be Mrs. Lloyd A. Hamilton, pianist, Twin Falls. She will play Piano Concerto in A Minor, Opus 64, by Robert Schumann, with orchestral accompaniment. The three movements of the concerto are "Andante affettuoso," "Andantino grazioso" and "Allegro vivace."

Selections by the orchestra on Wednesday by Painter and Harder are crop rotation, soil fertility and disease. A film "The big test" will be shown at the Wednesday afternoon session.

Girl, 8, Is Hurt When She Runs Into Car Here

Nancy Alice Gilman, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeVon Gilman, 308 Tyler avenue west, is in fairly good condition at Magic Valley Memorial hospital where she is being treated for injuries received Friday afternoon when she was hit by a car in front of the Twin Falls Public library.

She was struck by a 1952 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Carl Miller, 44, 1323 Sixth avenue east. Police said the Gilman girl was running across the street to her mother's car. Mrs. Miller reportedly swerved her car to avoid the girl, but she kept running into the street.

The Gilman girl has abrasions and contusions, but no apparent fractures. No citation was issued.

Signup Is Still Open for Classes

Enrollment is still open for anyone interested in any of the classes now being offered in the Idaho State College adult education program at the Twin Falls Junior high school, reports Arthur Kleinkopf, coordinator of Twin Falls adult education center.

Classes started last week, but some classes need more students to continue, Kleinkopf said. Each class must have at least 15 pupils. Those needing more enrollment are literature for children and basic Spanish, which meets on Tuesday; principle of speech correction and philosophy of education, on Wednesday; and historical geology, Thursdays.

T. F. Woman Not Hurt as Car Smashed

Laurel F. Monroe, 22, Mrs. Twin Falls, escaped injury when her auto was demolished in a three-car accident at 8:20 p.m. Friday two miles west of Twin Falls on highway 20.

Miss Monroe was driving a Ford which was struck from the rear by a 1952 Buick driven by Mathias Hill, 27, Burley. The impact knocked the Ford sideways and it was struck again broadside by a 1954 Dodge driven by Delmar Stephens, 10, Burley.

All vehicles were traveling west, according to police. Men Larry Plett, and Delmar Stephens, who were in the Buick, Miss Monroe had hopes for recovering traffic and signaling to make a left turn.

Rail was cited for failure to use reasonable and prudent in driving and Stephens for following too closely. Damages included $400 to the Buick and $400 to the Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Berg take pleasure in announcing that they now own and will operate the Twin Falls Mortuary. Mr. Berg who has managed the business since the retirement of Mr. Stanley Phillips a year and a half ago, states that he and Mrs. Berg will continue the business as Berg's Twin Falls Mortuary.

NIKULA POLE VAULTS 16 FEET, 8.75 INCHES

Finn Promises to Go for 17 Feet In Next Attempt

PAJULAHNTI, Finland, Feb. 2 (AP)—Pentti Nikula of Finland cleared 16 feet, 8 3/4 inches (5.10 meters) in the pole vault today—nearing 1/2 inches higher than any man had vaulted before. The wiry Finn, holder of the recognized world record of 16 feet, 2 1/2 inches, performed his astronomical feat in an indoor meet at this obscure resort while tuning up for an American campaign.

Minico Rolls To 78-53 Senator Win

RUPERT, Feb. 3.—With Randy Mills providing the core of a balanced scoring strike, the Minico Spartans fought off a stubborn Gooding senior quintet for two quarters and then coasted to a 78-53 victory.

The Spartans could only manage a 16-14 first quarter lead, but by the end of the second stanza had a 26-24 buffer. Their lead expanded to 20 points by the end of the third quarter and the Spartans were never in the game from then on.

The torrid Gooding junior varsity squad racked up a 35-33 win in the preliminary.

Italy Leads Bobsled Title Race

TOLE, Austria, Feb. 2 (AP)—Italy, which captured the two-man title last week ago, took a commanding lead Saturday in the World four-man bobsled championships on a lightning fast course built for the 1964 Winter Olympics. On U.S. also gained—sixth—place, the other nine.

Borgio Zardini, pilot of Italy's No. 1 sled, reached speeds of 75 miles per hour as he rounded its dangerous curves and scooped through icy straightaways in record time for two descents—down the 100-meter course.

Zardini's combined time was two minutes, 23.9 seconds in beating out Italy's No. 2 team, piloted by Angelo Prioglio, clocked at 2:09.93.

The daring Italians pushed the 100-foot sled in both runs. Prioglio and his crew slammed down the course in 1:04.25 in the first dash and Zardini clocked 1:04.25 in the second. Zardini's terrific 1:04:07 and Prioglio clocked 1:04:27.

Zardini had set the four-man mark of 1:03.43 in the final trial runs on Thursday, but five teams smashed that record when the chips were down in the championships. The 18 teams from nine countries will make the final two runs on Sunday.

The United States' 2 sled, piloted by 26-year-old Bill Hickey, Keene, N.Y., beat the former record in both heats, but

Nicklaus Has Another Sub-Par Round, Maintains Tourney Lead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 2 (AP)—National open champion Jack Nicklaus got in another round of sub-par golf today and maintained a firm grasp on first place with a 71, and a 72—the total of 273 in the $40,000-Palm Springs golf classic. The 23-year-old former U.S. amateur champion came to the gallery-packed 18th hole at the Eldorado Country club and got his par five, settling for the one-under-par 71. Nicklaus thus goes into Sunday's final round of this fourth annual 90-hole desert show with a five-stroke advantage over Gary Player of South Africa.

Player had a 69 for 273 as both he and Nicklaus played the par-36-72 Eldorado course. It is regarded as perhaps the most dangerous one of the four in action for the tournament.

The hole-in-one in 1961 was worth $50,000. Today's ace was just a good score.

There is a $50,000 designated hole on each of the four courses in action. But unfortunately for January, No. 15 at the Indian Wells Country club is the wrong one. The bonus hole this year is the 21-yard sixth.

No. 15 is 148 yards. January used an eight-hole, the same club he used before. Prior to this year any hole on the four courses was eligible for the $50,000 payoff.

A fellow professional, Ken Ball, Tacoma, Wash., accented January's money after the shot and acquired humorously, "do we nothing."

"Yes," drawled the Texas-born January, "half of nothing."

January finished with a par 71 and a 72-hole score of 299.

Sixteen Teams to Begin Annual Gooding-Outlaw Hoop Tourney Wednesday

GOODING, Feb. 2.—Scheduling of games for the 36th annual Gooding Outlaw tournament has been completed, according to Dub McHargue, publicity chairman. The tournament will be held Feb. 6 through 9 at the Gooding Junior High gymnasium, and is sponsored by the Lions club. Sixteen teams are entered in the test-and-defending-champions are the Plainsmen of Mountain Home air force base.

The tourney will get under way at 7 p.m. Wednesday, with the Circle Bar, of Bliss playing the Gem Staters of Wendell.

At 8 p.m. Valley Nursing home of Twin Falls will oppose the American Falls Damblers, and at 9 p.m. Paul Clegg School of Buhl and Baldwin Wood Kings of Idaho Falls will tangle.

The tourney will begin at 10 p.m. with Redmond Musicians of Redmond, Ore., against the Bertrams of Pocatello.

Thursday games will start at 1 p.m. with Troop 1 Gooding National Guard, and Ottens Perry Lions playing. At 2 p.m. Cullen's Cowboys of Jerome will meet the Aberdeen Big V's. Game seven will take place at 7 p.m. with the defending champions from Mountain Home playing the Fairfield Firemen.

At 4 p.m. the Paul Clegg School of Buhl will play the Mike's Redskins of Shoshone.

Thursday night play will start at 7 p.m. with 16 other games scheduled, determined by the winners of previous games.

There will be a total of 32 games played Friday, beginning at 8 a.m. 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday games will start at 9 a.m. with two games scheduled in the morning, at 2 p.m. for two games in the afternoon, and the semi-final game at 7 p.m. Saturday. The final game of the tournament will start at 9 p.m. after a one hour intermission.

Prizes for this year's tournament include Burrell Williams of Shoshone, Ernie Granger and Volney in Pocatello, and Lester Diehl of Gooding.

McHargue emphasized the fact that the games are run on a strict schedule, with games being running on the hour, so anyone wishing to attend the game should plan to be there at the time said game is scheduled.

Season tickets for the event may be on sale at Kendrick Drug.

BASEBALL SLATED FOR BASEBALL KICKOFF

Moose Johnson, Larry Jackson To Be Speakers

Major league pitcher Larry Jackson and 1963 field manager Wilbur (Moose) Johnson will be the speakers at a baseball kick-off banquet Feb. 13 at Franks restaurant. It will be Jackson's second appearance at Twin Falls on behalf of the Magic Valley Baseball club, the first coming in December of 1960 when he participated in a banquet to open the drive to return professional baseball to this area.

BY LARRY HOVEY
The banquet, which will be a 10-hour affair open to the public, also will mark the opening of the 1963 pre-season sales campaign. Jackson has worked for the St. Louis Cardinals for several years but was traded this fall to the Chicago Cubs in one of the major trades of the National League. A native of Boise, Jackson was well received at a banquet speaker here in 1960.

Johnson, who just ended 31 years of baseball, will speak at the Twin Falls trip in before leaving for spring training. In conversation with Cowboy general manager Warren E. (Ben) Jewell, Johnson reported this assignment has been the one he has been seeking since the Cowboys and Philadelphia Phillies became affiliates.

Johnson is a native of Butte, Mont., and his parents live in Butte, Mont., about 20 miles from Great Falls. He also has a sister living in Great Falls.

The board of directors felt this banquet would be a great way to open the 1963 season. Johnson said he was very pleased with the attitude of the Magic Valley Baseball club. He said he was very pleased with the attitude of the Magic Valley Baseball club.

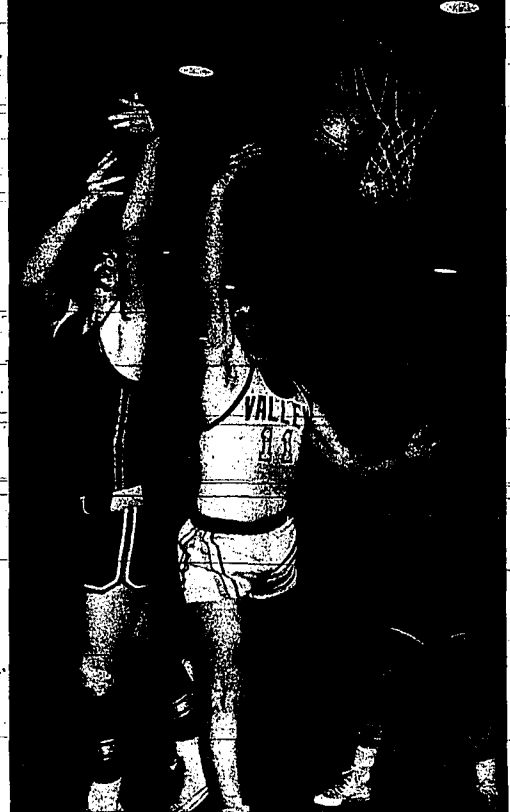

Jewell said tickets for the banquet will be available at several Twin Falls business houses Monday.

Big men vie for the rebound in Friday night's game between Shoshone and Valley. The Vikings Larry Davidson (11) seems to be in a more advantageous position than Indian George Trenkle, but the ball went out of bounds and a jump was called. Jerry Sturgeon (15) stands ready to assist. The Indians battled to a narrow 39-37 decision. (Times-News photo)

Shoshone's Last Quarter Rally Brings 39-37 Win Over Vikings

HAZELTON, Feb. 2—A sizzling last quarter rally led by Jerry Sturgeon and Dean Williams enabled the Shoshone Indians to come from behind last night and edge the Valley Vikings 39-37. Trailing by four points as the quarter opened, the Indians fought neck and neck with the torrid Vikings, but Sturgeon's eight-point scoring spree proved the difference. Williams hit a 30-foot jumper to put the Indians ahead to stay with 13 seconds left, and Gene Cheney stepped to the foul line moments later to ice it. Shoshone grabbed the initiative in the early going and maintained to come up with a 9-7 first quarter lead. Both teams went cold in the second quarter, but the Vikings enjoyed a shade more scoring warmth and held a slim 14-14 halftime edge.

In the third quarter, the teams exchanged baskets and battled to a 25-25 deadlock before John Hladick hit a free throw to put the Indians back in front. But two baskets by Lyle Turner, one of them a 40-foot jumper, put Valley back on top and they entered the final quarter with a 34-27 advantage.

Ron Clark started Valley in the first stanza, but Sturgeon and George Trenkle, both hit buckets to bring it to a 10-10 tie. Williams, however, took a clutch shot and David Kohls made the throw with a three-point play to give Valley a 32-26 lead after three minutes left in the game.

Then Sturgeon hit three quick buckets and Williams got to offset two-pointed by Lyle Turner. Williams hit his long jumper to give the lead to Shoshone at 38-27.

Seconds later, Pete Aronson was fouled and was shaken up sufficiently to leave the floor. Cheney came in to shoot for Aronson and coolly put through the cupped ball.

Shoshone also won the preliminary 51-47. Sturgeon hit 15 of 27 shots, Williams 12 of 22, Cheney 10 of 15, and Turner 10 of 15. Williams led in scoring with 24 points, Sturgeon with 22, and Cheney with 10. Turner had 10 points and 10 rebounds. Williams also had 10 rebounds. Cheney had 10 rebounds. Turner had 10 rebounds.

IDAHO HAMMERS PAST IDAHO STATE 90-61

Gus Johnson Ties Point Record, Has 25 Rebounds

MOSCOW, Feb. 2 (AP)—Idaho's Gus Johnson with 37 points and 25 rebounds led the Vandals to a 90-61 victory over a hustling but out-performed Idaho State team tonight. "Gus the Great" got 12 assists and blocked 15 Bengal shots. ISC's Art Crump managed to get 21 points despite the harassment of guard Lyle Parks. The Cougars, smarting under a 66-57 loss to Washington State Friday night—third of the season and the first with Johnson in the lineup—used the fast break to battle past 250 defenses.

Johnson set two school records. His 37 points is a new Vandal individual scoring and individual field goal mark. Teammate Chuck White with 23 points also broke an Idaho record. He hit five of six free throws to run his career total to 344.

Idaho State's Pat Baggitt gave the Bengals a push with three straight baskets in the second half but Johnson and Crump had 100 much.

Idaho led at the half 46-33. Washington State surprised Idaho with a strong defense and improved rebounding and took a 66-57 game from the Vandals Friday night.

The Cougars became the first college team to beat Idaho with improved rebounding. Gus Johnson, the leading scorer, had 37 points and 25 rebounds.

Ted Werner, Washington State's 6-foot, 8-inch sophomore center, did a good job of checking and harassing Johnson. Tim Kinnaman, in the starting line for the first time, added rebound strength.

Idaho led by as much as nine points in the first half but coach Joe Cipriano cleared his starters and WJRU closed it to 31-20 Idaho at the half.

New Authority Might Develop To Control Amateur Athletics

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 2 (AP)—A new authority over amateur athletics may be developed to succeed present compromises between the Amateur Athletic Union and National Collegiate Athletic association, a White House source told the Oakland Tribune today.

In a copyrighted story by the Tribune's Ed Schoonfeld, the unidentified source was asked if present compromises achieved by Gen. Douglas MacArthur are mere stop-gaps and if some new authority may well be developed.

"That's right. I think it is felt this is the direction in which we should move," the source replied. He said President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy are watching results of the MacArthur plan before determining how far the government should intervene.

The source said the President knew that he would have to take some action in the dispute. "He knew it was coming to a head, but there wasn't anyone to really work through until the state department last fall," the source was quoted.

Rodis, a football teammate of Atty. Gen. Kennedy at Harvard, left a coaching job at the University of Connecticut to work as athletic specialist in the state department. The younger Kennedy immediately put Rodis to work on the NCAA-AAU dispute.

"The President truly feels this involves all of the American people and that it is the President's job to speak for the people, a little at a time. He still doesn't know what to do," the source said.

Kennedy sees that "something is needed" to insure stronger future liaison between America's other overseas duties and obligations and the image presented by the nation's athletes, whom he recognizes as the best universal language. Representatives of the Amateur Athletic Union and the rival U.S. Track and Field Federation called Friday to resolve their differences on the question of dual sanctioning.

After five hours of debate at the AAU headquarters they did not reach an agreement and decided to continue discussions by mail.

Both sides sought to avoid any inflammatory statements and both said they hoped they could work out the matter themselves. Prospects seemed dim. They remained far apart.

The latest dispute arises from differing interpretations of the four-point MacArthur agreement and its implementing agreement. The AAU says it understood the plan to call for AAU sanctioning of all events of an open nature with the NCAA-backed USFPA confining itself to athletes still in school.

The USFPA contends that it still has control over its own athletes and thus can anywhere or when these athletes compete. This, the USFPA says, is the same as dual sanctioning.

Richfield Drops Mushers From Undeclared List to Share Conference Lead

RICHFIELD, Feb. 2—Tony Jansen and Lowell Ward pumped through 16 points between them in the third quarter last night as the Richfield Tigers slugged down previously-unbeaten Canas County 63-16 and climbed into a share of the Northside conference lead. It was a big night for Richfield as the Richfield girls' club snapped Canas County's four-year string of 49 straight 18-18 in a preliminary.

The Tigers, who had to win this one or bow out of the Northside title chase, carried the battle to the favored Mushers, who were having trouble hitting and just as much with the Richfield defense. Richfield outlasted the Mushers on the boards and had more than an even break there.

Bluffed as one of the feature games of the week, the battle was exactly what was expected in the first half. After stalemateing at 9-9 in the first eight minutes, Richfield moved to a slight 20-18 edge at halftime.

At the third quarter opened the Tigers took off. Ward, who had four fouls in the first half, kept out of trouble and plunked through nine points while Tony Jansen, who snared scoring honors with 20, pumped in seven more. Pete Appel hit two points to wind up the Tigers' 16-point third quarter. Meanwhile the Mushers collected only 10 points, dropped behind 30-28.

The desperate Mushers who saw a chance for a perfect season slipping past, tried desperately to make a late fourth quarter and succeeded with little about two minutes left in cutting the margin to six points. Then, 6-foot-1-inch Tom Gormley, the Dops leading scorer, fouled out and all Musher resistance wilted.

In two other preliminaries, Canas County won the boys' jockey game 45-27 and the junior high boys won 27-17. Canas County also won a junior high girls' game 10-0.

Raft River All but Clinches Loop Crown

MALTA, Feb. 2—The Raft River Trojans all but wrapped up the Southside conference basketball championship and Art Whitaker took a big step toward the individual scoring title last night as they dropped the Castelford Wolves 52-40. The victory gave Raft River a two-game lead over second place Declo with three to go and only a complete collapse could keep coach Ruel Barker and his charges out of the winners' circle. Meanwhile, Whitaker pumped through 23 points—four over his average—while his closest competitor, Jerry Griggs, was held to three points.

The Wolves, needing this win to stay in contention, jumped off to a 12-3 first quarter lead as both teams opened with zone defenses and stayed in their midst.

In the second period, the Trojans smoothed out their offense and started coming back late in the quarter. Raft River led it up 20-20 but Castelford moved back in front when Jerry Griggs hit two free throws and Mike Wasko added a long, desperation shot just at the buzzer.

That four-point halftime lead lasted quickly as Whitaker went to work with 10 points in the third quarter and the Trojans won going away.

Pirates Erupt To 62-49 Win Over Carey

HAGERMAN, Feb. 2—A trio of underclassmen, two of them freshmen, triggered a 22-point third quarter explosion tonight and the Hagerman Pirates erupted to a 62-49 win over the Carey Panthers 49-40.

Carey led at the first two quarters and only the scoring of Keith Crist kept the Pirates within one and 180 points.

As the third quarter began, freshman Allen Boyer scored from the corner. He hit five of six shots from that area while another freshman, Glen White, and junior Mike Engles hit four points apiece. That gave Hagerman a 14-point surge going into the last quarter.

YOUR JEROME SCOUTS of the Wapiti Indian dance team pose before they perform. Kneeling in the center is Michael Humphries. Standing from left are Deloy Thueson, chief of the team; Donald Thueson and Ed Offord. The boys are part of a Scout group that started dancing to preserve and present the culture and crafts of the American Indian. Each made his own regalia, headbands, necklaces, representing many hours of hard work. Their leader, Walt Thueson, said it's worth of makeup is used each time they dance. That sum is the "big" compensation the boys ask when they perform, and they are eager to have invitations to dance. Thueson said. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Given a choice of dancing or eating beefsteak, a group of Boy Scouts and Explorers from troop and post 28 at JEROME would choose dancing, so claims their leader, Walt Thueson. So red as the boys appear when they perform, small children sometimes hide behind their parents at the sight of the "real Indians." The boys are eager to display their talents and have been giving performances for various organizations. Since 45 worth of makeup is consumed each time, all they ask is enough to cover this expense. Willing parents, or the Scoutmaster, provide transportation. The Scouts call themselves the Wapiti Indians and though the boys belong to troop or post 28 the organization is set up so boys from other troops may also join. The only qualifications are that he must be a registered member of a troop or explorer post. He must also be at least a star Scout and then advance on rank each six months until he reaches Eagle rank, to remain active in the dancing group.

The boys' parents must have made their costumes and regalia. They have to be made from hide. Even though the material was sold to them, they still have to make it. The boys' parents must have made their costumes and regalia. They have to be made from hide. Even though the material was sold to them, they still have to make it.

Most of the boys have full suits that they dance in during the winter. They are made from deer skin or elk. In the summer they dance in a breechcloth, with their chests and legs bare.

Thueson said the breechcloth is a long strip of material, approximately "three hands" wide, it is looped over a belt, drawn between the legs and looped over a belt in the back.

The boys also wear underclothes that have been dyed to match their skin. Thueson said real Indians danced in only the breechcloth, with a sinew for a cord.

The long pants they dance in are like authentic Indian leggings. Each leg is separate and shaped with no center and the side narrow to add to the shape of the leg. The breechcloth, of course, covers the empty space. This leaves the boys to dance without too much bulk.

The Indian dance team was formed for the purpose of preserving and presenting the culture and crafts of the American Indian. Thueson said they have tried to make costumes representative of the different tribes for display as wide a variety as possible.

Various colors of makeup are used, including the Indian red for the skin all over; purple, for accents at the eyes and black. Thueson said the most difficult part of the makeup is the eyes. They try to imitate the high cheekbones and broad nose of the Indian. The wig is made of a fine black hair. Each boy is responsible for his own costume.

Thueson believes too many modern day people are too busy to date and participate in ballroom type dancing too young.

He pointed out Indian dancing satisfies two needs of youth—it takes a lot of stamina and skill to be able to dance the authentic dances of the Indian. The boys put in many hours of practice.

Indian dancing is divided into two basic categories—ceremonial and social. The ceremonial dances are for religious and purely social dances for contest and pleasure. Dancing was the Indians' way of self expression both in religion and for pleasure.

Each member of the Wapiti Indians has an Indian name of his own that is bestowed on him by the chiefs of the tribe at the time he is inducted into membership.

The officers of the tribe include the chief, Donald Thueson, who is an Eagle Scout; vice chief, Ronald Hendricksen; and Ed Offord, Scoutmaster, Deloy Thueson, secretary, Walt Thueson, the leader, Eagle Scout, and Ed Offord, Scoutmaster, Deloy Thueson, the leader, Eagle Scout, and Ed Offord, Scoutmaster.

The tribe has traveled to several towns in Magic Valley to dance for various groups and has performed several times in Jerome. They hope to go on a tour of the state and perhaps the surrounding states. The program currently is set for approximately 30 to 45 minutes.

However, they are learning more dances and hope to have a program of about 90 minutes by the time they make the tour.

They recently acquired a kit for the Eagle dance. This is done with all of the boys but one dancing in breechcloths. One Indian is costumed like an eagle. When he spreads his arms they form wings. The costume also has a tail like an eagle and a head with a beak.

Thueson says this is a very colorful dance and the boys are eager to work on it. Any extra money they receive for their dancing is put in a fund to buy additional equipment. They would like to buy water drums. These wooden drums have regular rawhide tops but are filled with water varying in depth to provide different tones.

When the group first started dancing, they practiced in the Tuuson backyard. Their home was a five-gallon can. Neighborhood children for several blocks came to watch when they heard the noise of the can.

The boy who used to play the drum has become almost blind and active, so Thueson has been playing the tom-tom. He hopes to train another youth soon because he pointed out it is difficult to keep the proper rhythm and still give the boys various signals from the side lines.

Mike Davis, a Jerome youth, is often a guest dancer when the tribe does a solo snake dance with two live blow snakes. Last summer he performed the dance at the World Fair. Davis kept the snakes in a bureau drawer where they were happy with an occasional mouse.

The last time he went to take them out both snakes were dead, so he is without his main prop until spring. Davis said the snakes can be trained. He assured them neither boy nor snake would be harmed, as he moves his arms the snakes lay still and still give the boys various signals from the side lines.

The tribe includes the officers and all members. The officers are Ed Offord, Scoutmaster, Deloy Thueson, secretary, Walt Thueson, the leader, Eagle Scout, and Ed Offord, Scoutmaster.

MEET YOUR REPORTER . . . Floral Shop Experience Gives Hobby To Mrs. Jones, Reporter at Kimberly

KIMBERLY, Feb. 2 — If years of working in a floral shop have given Mrs. Ronald Jones, Times-News correspondent for Kimberly, a hobby which she hopes eventually to turn into a practical one — she has it.

She and her husband have constructed a greenhouse on their lot this winter and she hopes to add a floral shop.

A native of Twin Falls, the reporter has lived in the Twin Falls-Kimberly area all her life.

Cub Pack 77 Has Meeting

Two skits were presented during the Cub Scout pack 77 meeting Tuesday night at Morningstar school. One of the skits was on "Statue of Liberty," and the other was a skit on "Familiar Faces of Paul Revere."

Plans for the annual blue and gold banquet were discussed by the Scouts. The banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 28.

Several Scouts received awards. They are Dennis Spier, gold arrow; Jack Cooper, bear badge; and gold and silver arrow; Doug Scott, gold arrow; Devin Kenyon, gold arrow; and Charles Twichell, gold arrow.

The inspection award was won by den three and den eight won the attendance award and the honor award.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 28.

Heyburn Woman Cited at Rupert

RUPERT, Feb. 2 — Mrs. Elsie B. Shaw, 24, Heyburn, was cited for failure to yield the right of way as the result of a two-car collision at a rural intersection at 300 W. and 400 S. at noon Wednesday.

Mrs. Shaw stopped at the stop vehicle approaching, pulled out into the intersection where her car was struck by a 1959 Ford driven by Mr. O. Johnston, 47, Jerome.

Damages to the 1958 Plymouth driven by Mrs. Shaw were estimated at $100. There were no damages to the Ford. Elsie Johnston, 47, Thomas Investigator.

and hunting together. Even the youngest look forward to the opening of the season. Her mother laughs, and is quite often the first to catch a fish. A nature of Twin Falls, the reporter has lived in the Twin Falls-Kimberly area all her life.

Mrs. Jones enjoys painting, but says her families activities have pushed the hobby to the background. Perhaps when her family is grown she will have more time for it.

She has served as Cub Scout den mother for three years, was a bluebird leader and rooming companion, and has been secretary for the Women's Society of Christian Service at the Kimberly Methodist church. Her main hobby has been making corsages and helping with the floral arrangements for weddings.

With the construction of their greenhouse, which is 22 by 40 feet, Mrs. Jones hopes to expand eventually into a floral shop. Their first crop will be bedding plants, including both flowers and vegetables.

She worked for the Kimberly Advertiser for several years when it was owned by Robert Raustadt and has been a Times-News reporter the past three years.

Because her husband has undergone surgery and had several trips to the hospital this past year, Mrs. Jones says her new work hours have been cut now that his future looks bright again she is planning to put more time on it.

She points out it is always a pleasure to meet someone personally after having talked over the phone to him many times while she was in the hospital.

T. F. Man Is Recovering After Crash

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 2 (Special)—Olan Ward, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross O. Ward, 41, Martin street, Twin Falls, is reported in fairly good condition at Good Samaritan hospital in Phoenix, following injuries received in a three-vehicle accident Jan. 17, in Globe, Ariz.

The accident resulted in death to the driver of one vehicle. An article in the Globe Arizona Record newspaper reports the driver of the third vehicle involved has been charged with drunken driving for forcing a car into a head-on collision.

The newspaper said police credited seat belts with saving the lives of Ward and his traveling companion, the Arizona Star, 20, Terrace, Mrs. Ward and Clark are both LDS missionaries in Arizona.

Ward, who received facial lacerations and a fractured elbow, was transferred from a Globe hospital to Phoenix. Mr. and Mrs. Ward reported Friday their son is recovering after undergoing surgery.

WRESTLING IS A SPORT which provides opportunity for both big and little men to participate on an equal basis. Coach Merl Eden, Twin Falls high school, is here. Here two of the "little men," Bill Hill, center, at 106 pounds, and Jerry Mabeater, 115 pounds, try on a hold for good measure while Norm Ulrich, in the "big man" class at 188 pounds, looks on. Thirty-five boys are entered in the wrestling program in Twin Falls and practically all are Juniors, pointing toward a good foundation for the squad next year in competition with other schools. (Times-News photo)

High School Wrestling Provides Sport Where Both Big and Little Men Shine

Two points for each wrestler, a decision three points for the winner and a fall or pin, five points for the contestant making it.

"As a body builder it is a wonderful sport," Coach Eden opines. "It is especially beneficial in building shoulders and arms. A wrestler in high school develops a fine-looking body."

Next year the local school plans more opportunity in the wrestling field for those students interested. Like the season which ends this week, a full schedule of matches with other schools, including Boise, Pocatello and Idaho Falls teams, is now being drawn up.

Slow to catch on from a spectator standpoint, high school wrestling this past season showed a good increase at the gate.

TRY THIS BEFORE BREAKFAST some morning. George Neidams, top, 157-pound member of the Twin Falls high school wrestling team, goes up hand over hand while Orville Willis, 148 pounds, straddles the rope. Exercise builds arm and shoulder muscles as well as those of the abdomen. Twin Falls and Minico met at Minico in the final event of the regular season Monday night. (Times-News photo)

Record List Of Americans Is Overseas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (U.S.)—In the 19th century, the American abroad was so rare a sight he seemed like a country bumpkin lost in the big city.

An American novelist built a career on exploring the conflict between the innocent American abroad and old, sophisticated Europe. An European cartoonist drew American diplomats as lanky, Lincolnian, and blindfolded.

Today the images have changed. Americans abroad are such as these:

The air force pilot flying his helicopter over brush hiding communists in South Viet Nam; the pretty peace corps girl teaching chemistry and biology in the heat of Ghana; the dramatic diplomat sipping a cocktail with a minister in Paris.

The American abroad no longer is a rare sight.

"We have one million Americans today serving outside the United States," President Kennedy said in an interview.

"There is no other country in history that has carried this kind of burden," Kennedy's rough estimate of a million Americans abroad includes only U. S. government personnel and their dependents. Perhaps 200,000 other Americans work or study abroad, employed by American firms, sent by

8 Contractors Receive Licenses

Eight Magic Valley public works contractors have been listed in a supplement to the state directory of licensed public works contractors as receiving licenses between Aug. 24 and Jan. 14.

They are A and S Plumbing and Heating company, 700 Main avenue south, and Jones corporation, route 1, both Twin Falls; Thompson-Cash-Vard-Diggett; Gloniz Construction company; Kimberly; Community Building Supply; Murtaugh; Larry Fairbanks, route 2, Hansen; Dewey Higgins, route 1, Jerome; and Idaho Gas company, Gooding.

Election Set

MALTA, Feb. 2—Annual meeting of the Raft River Rural Electric cooperative will be held at the Raft River high school here Feb. 3, reports John A. Pierce, president.

Nine directors will be elected and the articles of incorporation and bylaws will be amended. Pierce, and Edwin Schlender, manager, reported on a meeting in Portland at a directors meeting in Malta Tuesday. The proposed extension of Bonneville power was discussed.

CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS has been made on the new Elks Lodge near Rupert since construction began last September. Most of the work being done on the building is by donated labor from the lodge members. The lodge is situated a half mile west of the town. (Times-News photo.)

New Rupert Elks Lodge Being Built With Members Donating Time, Labor

RUPERT, Feb. 3.—There is an old saying that goes "if you want anything done, then do it yourself" and that is exactly what the members of the Rupert Elks Lodge are doing. They are, in a sense, building their own Elks lodge.

The 30-pound cylinder long ago lost its radio voice, but it reigns as the oldest man-made inhabitant in space. The two Soviet Sputniks which preceded it into orbit no longer are aloft.

Advancements have been spectacular since Explorer 1 placed the United States firmly in the space race with the Soviet Union on Jan. 31, 1958.

The Soviet Union has launched an almost unbelievable total of more than 110 successful satellites and deep space probes. Soviet scientists have sent up 31.

The Soviet Union's future plans are clouded in secrecy. But the step-by-step U.S. program has been laid out clearly for the past decade.

America's major goal is to land astronauts on the moon before the Russians and to do so by 1970, a so-called ideal launching date of Jan. 18, 1967, at 3:24 p.m. Cape Kennedy is the launching site.

Considered as a potential goal for the Apollo lunar flight, it is the most difficult and most expensive of all space programs.

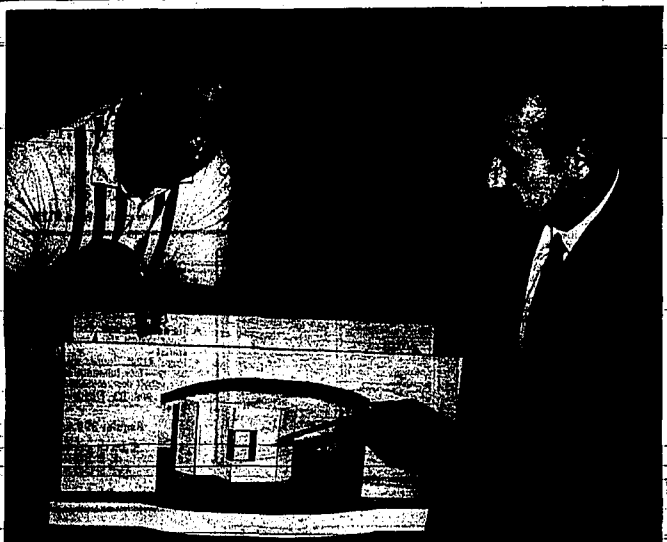

It will be the longest U.S. manned space trip to date but far short of the record 29-hour, 35-minute flight of the Soviet cosmonaut Yuriy Gagarin.

In 1964, the 16-man Gemini 7 will be launched to orbit and land on the moon for a period of up to two weeks.

Development is proceeding on the mighty Saturn C5 rocket, whose 7.5 million pounds of thrust is to carry the Apollo to the moon.

The man entrusted with mid-Soviet Union's rocket power is the same who headed the team which rocketed Explorer 1—former German rocket expert, Werner von Braun.

The cost of landing men on the moon will be staggering. Official estimates run as high as $40 billion.

POINTING OUT a possible alteration on a miniature stage is Paul Klus, director of "Oklahoma!", a musical comedy being presented by the Magic Valley Dilettante Group March 1, 2, 3, 7, 8 and 9. The miniature is a scale version of the Elks high school stage. (Times-News photo.)

Oldest Space Traveler Is Explorer I

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 3.—Explorer 1, the one-time chaperone which discovered the Van Allen radiation belt, whirled safely around Earth today more than five years after it was launched.

The 30-pound cylinder long ago lost its radio voice, but it reigns as the oldest man-made inhabitant in space. The two Soviet Sputniks which preceded it into orbit no longer are aloft.

Miniature Stage Constructed by Buhl Student Aids Dilettante Production

BUHL, Feb. 3.—Staging a hit production in Magic Valley can present many problems, especially if the cast and crew have decided on the performance will be the best effort they can possibly offer.

One way to solve problems on stage construction is to master the problem in miniature before the stage sets are constructed or started.

Buhl high school student Byron Munger has used his spare time—because drama is one of his chief interests—to construct a scale model of the Buhl high school stage.

The basic dimensions of the Buhl stage and the stage at Filer high school are comparable. Starting March 1 the Magic Valley Dilettante group will present "Oklahoma!" a musical comedy on the Filer high school stage.

Often the success of a theater production depends on the performance and effective scene changes. On Munger's scaled stage, he could present a real problem but the solution was simple. The indoor scene is painted on the back of the outdoor scene. By reversing the scenery an indoor scene is created with a minimum of effort.

By following the scene outlines in the main script and putting the scenery of the scaled stage on the local adjustments can be made easily. This all eliminates last-minute changes when building the set.

The scaled settings also offer another advantage—without the cost of building the set, it comes time to paint the setting.

Some U.S. experts doubt that the Soviet Union can devote as much money, resources and manpower to such a program without seriously affecting needed production in other areas. But others point out that the Soviets have a long history of surprise before in space.

And that the race to the moon should be an interesting one.

Seats Open

Twenty seats for the irrigation school to be held on the Union Pacific agricultural development car Monday, still had not been reserved at 9:00 p.m. Friday, Donald Youn, Twin Falls county agent, reported.

You said the seats will be reserved for the first 20 persons requesting them.

The car will be on a siding near the Twin Falls freight depot and the school will last from 10:30 a.m. until mid-afternoon Monday.

Mine at Hailey Will Build Mill

HAILEY, Feb. 2.—The Silver Star—Queen Mining company plans to acquire land suitable for construction of a mill, reports Joe A. Foster, Ft. Worth, Texas.

A firm has been engaged to design a mill for the property and as soon as additional ore is developed, a profitable mining and milling operation can be initiated.

In addition to the ore being developed on the 450-foot level, ore now are moving ahead on the 700-foot level with encouraging results. As ore is mined from the development drifts and raises, the high grade ore is shipped directly to Salt Lake City for processing.

The milling grade is being stockpiled until the mill is constructed, the official added. Silver, lead and zinc ore of profitable milling grade is being mined.

the Rupert area a center where we can attract conventions and large gatherings. The lodge facilities will be available to private groups desiring to use such a building.

The idea of stepping out of a meeting and on to a golf course might appeal to many groups, especially if there is bowling, swimming and picnic area available also, Toolson added.

Play all the recently completed nine-hole golf course, which expectations last year, said Charles Cresson, Rupert Country Club, Inc., board member.

Cresson noted that development of the course is further along than was anticipated. "We expect play to increase again this year," he said. Dave Adams is the club pro.

Improvement of one section of the area definitely helps another section, Toolson added. "When completed we expect the area to be second to none in the state," he said.

"To finance such a project, either publicly or privately, would have been prohibitive. But by doing the work ourselves the project is becoming a reality," Toolson added. "Not only are we saving money, but the project has given the lodge quite a lift in morale and our membership is growing."

Stocks Score Advance on Less Trading

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—The market featured a total advance in which a few heavy stocks were always in demand during the period of the market's advance to move through a one-time limit, overall price level.

Technical analysts considered the advance in the industrial average as a sign that prices had been depressed for some time. They also noted that the market was heavily weighted toward heavy stocks and speculation was active in the further progress was made.

Traders noted a decline in the market's advance, except for a few isolated cases by mutual funds, which tended to be a sign of exhaustion some of the market's advance. It was noted that the market's advance was a drop in a 10-point move in the market's advance.

Locally, despite a few stocks' performance, the earnings of the market were not as good as the market's advance. The market's advance was a drop in a 10-point move in the market's advance.

SOAPLESS WATER seems to freeze better than that loaded with detergent. Here a passerby pauses at a scenic point in the area below American Falls dam to survey the Snake river, almost completely frozen from bank to bank. Contention is that this area of the mighty river is not bothered with the detergent which seems to plague the area below Huffer at various seasons and times of the year. (Times-News photo)

AREA BELOW MILNER DAM shows soapy bubbles of detergent floating downstream after apparently being mixed up during drop over the spillway. Some of the soapy substance has frozen below the dam but most of it is in midstream looking very much like foam. Some officials say that even treatment plants fail to completely control the detergent menace to fish. Each year several thousand fish die because of river contamination. (Times-News photo)

Truck Damaged

BUHL, Feb. 2 — About 100 in damage resulted when Roy C. Fall, 10, Buhl, lost control of his 1958 Chevrolet pickup truck Wednesday on icy roads two miles east of here on highway 30.

The truck slid off the Cedar crossing curve striking highway markers along the roadway. There were no injuries, according to State Patrolman Richard Burns.

Detergent in River Water Turns Some Areas of Snake Into One Big Wash tub

The mighty Snake river by the water's surface and contaminated by the members of the Wisconsin Fur Hunt expedition, first to traverse this area—has never seen anything like it is seen today.

Cold-weather has brought out several changes in the normal "activities" of the river but probably none so great as that found at the miller dam just the other day.

Suds were in the water! Detergents which housewives pour into their washing machines in an effort to get the things spic and span and white were foaming up the river. The soap-like substance was being dumped into the river upstream from the dam, in the Burley-Rupert area. For some reason the detergent never gives up and when the water churns, like going over the dam, the foam builds up.

Some of the foam from but most of it spread onto the river banks and contaminated the river in that area a short distance was completed.

Above the Burley-Rupert area, in the vicinity below the American Falls dam, this situation does not exist. The river in that area is a completely frosts from bank to bank. Even with some late warm days it shows that evidence of any concerned life.

Common Cold Nearing End Of Its Reign

But short the problem of immunizing against the common cold "may not be quite as complicated as the ever-growing number of respiratory viruses might suggest."

A University of Pennsylvania scientist found in his influenza research that some patients afflicted during the last Asian flu outbreak developed antibodies not only against that disease, but against forms of influenza not in circulation during their lifetime. Influenza is caused by a virus which also causes common colds.

"Practical application of such findings would mean that a vaccine containing relatively few antigens could induce broad protection against many viruses," Medical World News said.

Another discovery, that, a chemical substance known as "interferon" is produced by the body to halt virus infections before another are available to work against the disease, might some day provide man with a cure for the common cold.

Last April 29 the national influenza of health awarded a $11,000 development contract for a cold vaccine to Charles Pfizer and company, New York.

Another contract for an $83,000 contract with Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago.

Last Jan. 12 NIH announced awards of cold vaccine contracts with Cutter Laboratories, National Drug company and Wyeth Laboratories. Merck and company, West Point, Pa., also has been at work on a vaccine.

The Merck vaccine has been used experimentally at a Philadelphia children's hospital.

Some experts say, however, that modern vaccine treatment does not completely eliminate the condition. With the cold at the Falls practically completely under control and cure at Burley and construction, the treated condition can be studied.

Meanwhile, fishing experts contend that some were "good" for fish regarding the condition in which they exist. The water, it is thought, is a point out, is usually a nuisance because fish are so dephila children's hospital, against cold common cold viruses. Results have been encouraging.

Abbot has tried its vaccine in the past four years on workers at Louisiana Industrial Plant and on sailors at the Great Lakes naval training center. The vaccine has shown promise against the cold-producing, coxsackievirus.

In Washington, a vaccine against respiratory syncytial virus, a frequent cause of cold among children, is under way. Vaccine against adenovirus, strain with 30 separate members capable of producing system from common colds to cancer.

Minnesota has been tried with promising results at Great Lakes air force base, Colo. M. N. J. and P. Leonard Wood.

Seventy-five convict volunteers from a dozen federal penitentiaries are receiving 40 guinea pigs for cold vaccine at Bethesda, Md.
